17 their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures. Supreme

18 Court decisions regarding search and seizure place the responsibility on law enforcement to

19 ensure that citizens' Fourth Amendment rights are protected. Deputies shall scrupulously

20 observe constitutional guidelines when conducting searches and always remain mindful of their

21 lawful purpose.

22

23 PURPOSE

24

25 The purpose of this general order is to establish guidelines and procedures which deputies must

26 follow when conducting searches and seizures.

27

28 PROCEDURES – GENERAL

- 29

- 31 ○ Section 19.2-52 of the Code of Virginia states that a judge, magistrate or other person
- 32 having authority may issue a search warrant if:

- 34 ▪ There is a complaint on oath supported by an affidavit.
- 35
- 36 ○ Section 19.2-53 of the Code of Virginia states that search warrants may be issued for

- 45 issued.

46

47 PROCEDURES - OBTAINING A SEARCH WARRANT

48

- 49 • Where to obtain a search warrant

- 50 ○ A search warrant may be obtained from any of the following three sources, according
- 51 to Section 19.2-52, Code of Virginia:

- 52 ▪ Any judge;

- 53 ▪ Any magistrate;

- 54 ▪ Any other person having the authority to issue criminal warrants.

- 55 ❖ Authorization to execute a search warrant, other than in the daytime, for any
- 56 reason other than the drawing of blood, shall be obtained from a judge. A

- 57 magistrate may issue authorization to execute such warrants in the nighttime if
- 58 a judge is unavailable and the requesting officer describes in the affidavit the

- 59 attempts made to locate a judge to issue authorization.

60

- 61 ○ Section 19.2-44 Code of Virginia provides that a magistrate shall be authorized to
- 62 exercise the powers conferred on magistrates by this title only in the magisterial
- 63 region or regions for which he is appointed, except that a magistrate may issue search
- 64 warrants in accordance with Chapter 5 (19.2-52 et seq) throughout the
- 65 commonwealth.

66

- 67 • How to obtain a search warrant

- 68 ○ Section 19.2-54, Code of Virginia requires that before the issuance of a search
- 69 warrant, an affidavit must be filed and sworn to before a judge or magistrate.

- 70 ○ The affidavit must include the following elements:

- 71 ▪ A description of the place, thing, or person to be searched;

- 72 ▪ A description of the things or persons to be searched for;

- 73 ▪ A substantial allegation of the offense in relation to which the search is to be
- 74 made;

- 75 ▪ An allegation that the object, thing or person to be searched constitutes evidence
- 76 of the commission of the offense; and

- 77 ▪ Material facts, which would show that there is probable cause for the issuing of
- 78 the search warrant.

79

- 80 • Description of place to be searched

- 81 ○ In describing the premises to be searched, a deputy should:

- 82 ▪ Describe the appearance of the building,

- 83 ▪ Give its address,

- 84 ▪ State that the search is to include the curtilage and outbuildings thereon, and

- 85 ▪ Give the city, town or county in which it is located.
86 ❖ Curtilage is defined as the piece of ground within a fenced yard.
87
88 ○ The affidavit must describe:
89 ▪ The place,
90 ▪ Thing, or
91 ▪ Person to be searched with enough detail that:
92 ❖ When the description is transferred to the search warrant, the deputy executing 93 the search warrant can find and identify what it is to be searched without an 94 unreasonable amount of effort.
95
96 • Description of person
97 ○ A person who is to be searched must be described in the affidavit so that:
98 ▪ He/she may be identified with reasonable certainty.
99 ▪ His name must be given if it is known.
100 ❖ If his name is not known, he may be called "John Doe," but the deputy must 101 describe what the person looks like, in sufficient detail that the person
102 searching will be able to identify the person, and the place where he can be 103 found.
104
105 • Description of thing to be searched for 106 ○ Shall be specific language that leaves no doubt in the mind of the person executing
107 the warrant what things shall be searched or seized.
108 ○ A deputy is permitted to search for and seize four kinds of property or persons under 109 Section 19.2-53, Code of Virginia. They are the following:
110 ▪ Weapons or other objects used in committing a crime.
111 ▪ Things that are unlawful to sell or possess.
112 ▪ Any object, thing, or person, including without limitation, documents, books,
113 papers, records or body fluids, constituting evidence of the commission of crime;
114 or
115 ▪ Any person to be arrested for whom a warrant or process for arrest has been 116 issued.
118 • Description of the offense
119 ○ The affidavit must describe the offense in relation to which the search is to be made.
120 The description may be in brief, general terms.
121 ○ It is not necessary to use legalistic language or to refer to any specific section of the 122 Code.
123 ▪ Supplying the code section is a good procedure.
124
125 • Probable cause statement
126 ○ The affidavit must be supported by probable cause. See GO 2-1, Constitutional
127 Safeguards for a definition.
128 ○ The deputy must allege in the affidavit enough particular facts so that the magistrate
129 may decide if the search will likely result in successful seizure.
130 ○ Two kinds of facts must be considered:

- The facts from which the deputy concluded that the person or thing is probably located at the place to be searched; and
 - The facts must be recent.
 - The facts that address the reliability of the source of the deputy's information.
- The magistrate or court can consider only those facts presented in the warrant and affidavit.
 - Before a search warrant can be issued, the magistrate must be satisfied that probable cause to search exists at the time the warrant is issued.
 - His conclusion that probable cause does exist must be based upon facts reasonably related in time to the date of the issuance of the warrant.
- Reliability of information used to justify probable cause
 - Judicial officers issuing search warrants may consider the following factors in determining reliability of probable cause statements:
 - Personal observations by law enforcement officers.
 - Eyewitnesses
 - ❖ Where search warrant affidavit discloses that the information related came from the victim of a crime, or from an eyewitness to the fact related, and the information appears reasonable, the magistrate may infer that it is reliable because it was based on first-hand knowledge.
 - Informants
 - ❖ If there is no reason to hide the name of an informant, a deputy should give the informant's name in the affidavit.
 - There is no reason not to disclose the informant's name, for example, if he is willing to testify in court unless other investigations concerning him or her are pending or there is personal danger to him or her.
 - ❖ If the informer's name must be withheld until court, state this and that the informer will testify.
 - Concerning unknown informants, See GO 2-11, Informants.
 - When referring to unknown informants, law enforcement officers rely on a magistrate to make a practical common sense decision whether, given all the circumstances set forth in the affidavit before him including:
 - ✓ The "veracity" and "basis of knowledge" of persons supplying hearsay information,
 - ✓ There is a fair probability that contraband or evidence of a crime will be found in a particular place.
 - ❖ If a deputy relies on information for proving probable cause given by an unknown informant, in his affidavit he shall allege the following:
 - The facts from which the informant concluded that the thing to be searched for is probably on the person or premises to be searched (these are the same kind of factors that must be alleged if they came from law enforcement observation or from a named informant) and,

- 177 ➤ Based on the totality of the circumstances, facts from which the officer 178 concluded that:
179 ✓ The informant is credible
180 ✓ The information furnished by the informant is reliable.
181 ✓ Informant reliability may be established by:
182 ✱ The informant has given reliable information in the past.
183 ✱ The informant is a private citizen whom the law enforcement
184 officer knows or who has a reputation for truthfulness.
185 ✱ The informant states that he himself has participated to some 186 extent in the illegal activity.
187 ✱ The information that one informant gives is corroborated by 188 another informant.
189 ✱ The information given by the informant is corroborated by law
190 enforcement surveillance.
191 ✱ The information given could have only been known to someone 192 close to the crime or in a position to know details unavailable to an 193 outsider.
194

195 PROCEDURES - EXECUTING A SEARCH WARRANT

- 196
- 197 • Search warrant execution
 - 198 ○ Section 19.2-56.B, Code of Virginia prohibits law enforcement officers from seeking, 199 executing or participating in the execution of no-knock search warrants.
 - 200 ○ In accordance with 19.2-56.B, Code of Virginia, all law enforcement officer 201 participating in the execution or service of a search warrant shall be recognizable and 202 identifiable as a “Uniformed Law Enforcement Officer”
 - 203 ▪ Plain clothed law enforcement officers shall not be permitted to participate in the 204 initial entry portion of any search warrants into a residence or property, but may 205 participate in the search once the residence or property to be search is secured.
206
 - 207 ○ In accordance with Section 19.2-56.B, Code of Virginia, requires that law 208 enforcement officers involved in the execution of a search warrant announce their 209 authority and purpose in a manner that is reasonably expected to be heard by the 210 occupants of such place to be searched prior to execution of the warrant.
 - 211 ○ A law enforcement officer is required by Section 19.2-56, Code of Virginia, to 212 execute a search warrant within 15 days of the date it was issued.
 - 213 ▪ If it has not been executed during that time, the officer must return the warrant to 214 the magistrate who issued it.
215
 - 216 ○ A copy of the affidavit must be attached to the warrant and served with it.
 - 217 ▪ Section 19.2-56, Code of Virginia.
218
 - 219 ○ In accordance with Section 19.2-56.B a law enforcement officer may execute a search 220 warrant only during the day time unless the warrant is for the drawing of blood.
 - 221 ▪ Authorization to serve the warrant at another time must be obtained from a judge.

- 222 ❖ A Magistrate may issues authorization to execute a search warrant at a time 223 other than day time if a judge is unavailable and an affidavit describes the 224 efforts undertaken to locate a judge to issue the authorization.
 225
- 226 ○ A Copy of the search warrant and affidavit shall be read and a copy given to the 227 person(s) or owner of the premises to be searched prior to the undertaking of any 228 search and seizure.
 - 229 ▪ If the owner of place to be searched is not present a copy of the search warrant an 230 affidavit shall be read and a copy given to any occupant of the place to be 231 searched.
 - 232 ▪ If the place to be searched is unoccupied a copy of the search warrant and 233 affidavit shall be affixed to such place to be searched.
 - 234
 - 235 ○ Section 19.2-56, Code of Virginia provides that no other person shall be present 236 during the execution of a search warrant except for:
 - 237 ▪ The law enforcement officer to whom the search warrant was delivered,
 - 238 ▪ The owners and occupants of the place to be searched when permitted by the 239 officer in charge of the search,
 - 240 ▪ Persons designated by the officer in charge of the search to assist or provide 241 expertise in the conduct of the search.
 - 242
 - 243 ● Search Warrant Execution for Electronic Communication, Remote Computing Service
 244 Providers, Financial Institutions, Money Transmitters, Commercial Businesses Providing 245 Credit Histories or Credit Reports
 - 246 ○ Section 19.2-56 Code of Virginia addresses search warrant execution to Electronic 247 Communication, Remote Computing Service Providers, Financial Institutions, Money
 248 Transmitters, and Commercial Businesses Providing Credit Histories or Credit
 249 Reports.
 - 250 ○ Law enforcement officers may execute search warrants on the above listed entities by 251 either:
 - 252 ▪ Hand/Personal delivery,
 - 253 ▪ United States Mail,
 - 254 ▪ Commercial Delivery Service,
 - 255 ▪ Facsimile,
 - 256 ▪ Other Electronic Means.
 - 257
 - 258 ● Gaining entrance to premises
 - 259 ○ When a law enforcement officer executes a search warrant, he must follow the proper 260 procedures when he enters the premises to be searched.
 - 261 ○ If he fails to do so, then the subsequent search may be ruled invalid, even if the law 262 enforcement officer enters without force, for example, by using a passkey or by 263 opening a closed but unlocked door.
 - 264 ○ In all cases the law enforcement officer must do all of the following before entering 265 the premises to be searched:
 - 266 ▪ He or she must announce his presence/authority as a law enforcement officer;
 267 and,

- 268 ▪ He or she must announce that his purpose is to execute a search warrant; and 269 ▪ He or she must wait a reasonable time either to be admitted or refused admission
270 to the premises.
271
- 272 • When entrance is refused
 - 273 ○ If the law enforcement officer is refused entrance after a reasonable time, he or she 274 may force his way into the premises.
 - 275 ○ A refusal may be expressed or implied.
 - 276 ○ A refusal can be implied in two circumstances:
 - 277 ▪ No one has admitted the law enforcement officer within a time in which it would 278 be reasonable to expect someone to let the officer in if he is going to be admitted 279 at all.
 - 280 ▪ The law enforcement officer waiting to be admitted sees or hears suspicious
281 circumstances, such as flushing toilets or footsteps running away from the door,
282 which indicates that someone might be concealing or destroying evidence or 283 trying to escape.
 - 284
 - 285 • No-knock entry
 - 286 ○ Section 19.2-56.B, Code of Virginia, prohibits law enforcement officers from 287 seeking, executing or participating in the execution of a no-knock search warrant.
 - 288 ○ In executing any warrants, law enforcement officers may use whatever force is 289 reasonably necessary under the circumstances to effect a lawful purpose.
 - 290 ○ Violation of the provisions of Section 19.2-56.B, Code of Virginia will result in any 291 evidence seized during the search to be inadmissible in court.
292
 - 293 • Conduct of the search
 - 294 ○ Once the evidence being searched for is located, the search must cease.
 - 295 ○ Law enforcement officers may not use a search warrant to conduct a fishing
296 expedition, i.e., if the search warrant is for a television, or large item, small places
297 such as jewelry boxes may not be searched.
 - 298 ○ A law enforcement officer may seize only the property listed in the warrant. There 299 are two exceptions to this rule. A law enforcement officer may seize other property if:
 - 300 ○ It is other evidence reasonably related to the offense for which the search warrant was 301 issued.
 - 302 ○ It is property, which the law enforcement officer knows or has probable cause to 303 believe is evidence of another crime and found during the search and within the scope 304 of search warrant.
 - 305 ❖ Items in and of itself which are illegal by its own nature, (i.e., bong, drugs, 306 switchblade knife, brass knuckles, etc.) either observed in plain view or,
 - 307 ❖ Items in of itself which are illegal by its own nature found while searching for
308 evidence named in the search warrant in a location the named searched for items
309 could be reasonably found.
 - 310
 - 311 ○ A law enforcement officer, however, cannot seize evidence under these exceptions if:
 - 312 ▪ His discovery of it is not inadvertent, that is, he knows before the search begins 313 that the evidence is probably on the property, and he intends to seize it; or

- 314 ▪ His discovery of it is made after he has found all the property listed on the warrant
315 to be seized, unless it is in plain view.
316 ▪ The property is in a place he cannot legally search.
317
- 318 • Searches of persons found on premises
 - 319 ○ The Supreme Court has ruled that a person's presence on the premises to be searched
320 with a warrant does not, without more, give rise to probable cause to search that 321 person.
 - 322 ○ If the law enforcement officer has a reasonable belief that the person is armed and 323 dangerous, then the law enforcement officer may pat down or frisk the person for 324 weapons.
 - 325 ▪ Absent that belief, the law enforcement officer must have probable cause to 326 support the search of a person on the premises without a warrant.
327
 - 328 ○ A law enforcement officer is permitted to search a person found on the premises if:
 - 329 ▪ The person makes a "furtive movement" which the deputy would reasonably 330 interpret to be an indication of being armed and dangerous.
 - 331 ❖ A furtive movement is defined as an action performed by stealth.
332 ➤ Deputies shall not document a person's behavior as "furtive movements"
333 but shall specifically describe the person's actions.
334
 - 335 ○ The deputy has probable cause to believe that items, which are the subject of the 336 search warrant, are concealed on the person.
 - 337 ▪ Mere presence of a person on premises does not constitute probable cause to 338 search.
339
 - 340 • Detention of persons on the premises
 - 341 ○ A warrant to search a premises for contraband does not carry with it the authority to 342 detain the occupants of the premises while a search is being conducted unless the 343 deputy can articulate facts and reasons, if the person was released, it would have 344 jeopardized officer safety or resulted in destruction of evidence.
 - 345 ○ If a person being detained at a premises being searched is questioned about evidence
346 being searched for or the crime associated with the search warrant, Miranda warning
347 shall be given.
 - 348 ▪ See GO 2-1, Constitutional Safeguards.
349
 - 350 ○ If the search of the premises gives rise to probable cause to arrest the detainee, he 351 may be arrested and his person searched incident to arrest.
352
 - 353 • Personal possessions
 - 354 ○ A search of a person's personal possessions is not considered a search of the person if 355 they are outside his physical possession.
 - 356 ○ Such possessions, then, would fall within the definition of things or places 357 specifically to be searched, as set forth in the warrant.

- Searches of persons
 - A law enforcement officer should get a search warrant for the search of a person whenever there is enough time to get one.
 - A warrantless search of a person may take place under the conditions specified in GO 2-1, Constitutional Safeguards, GO 2-4, Arrests, GO 2-5, Search Incident to Arrest.
 - If probable cause exists just the same as would be stated in an affidavit, but, there is not enough time to obtain a search warrant due to the person's mobile nature.
 - Scope of search
 - If a search warrant authorizes the search of a person only, a deputy may only search the following places:
 - The entirety of the person named in the warrant;
 - The area in immediate control of the person being searched from which he could reach for a weapon or for evidence so as to:
 - ❖ Protect the deputy;
 - ❖ Prevent escape; and
 - ❖ Prevent the destruction of evidence.
 - A warrant to search one person does not justify the search of a companion.
 - What can be seized
 - Under a warrant authorizing the search of a person, a law enforcement officer may seize the following things:
 - Anything in the permissible area which the warrant authorizes to be seized;
 - Any other evidence in the permissible area reasonably related to the offense listed in the warrant; and

 - ❖ The evidence is in plain view of the place where the deputy makes the search of the person; and
 - ❖ The deputy's discovery of the evidence is inadvertent, that is, the deputy does not know the location of the evidence and does not intend to seize it before he goes to execute the search warrant.
